

SAM LERNER

210 Jastram St – Providence, RI 02908 – 518.424.3892 – syn@aezum.net

OBJECTIVE: To develop creative and interesting web applications using programming and multimedia software, in an environment where stylistic creativity and technical expertise are desired.

SUMMARY:

- Self-taught web designer and Flash developer, employed since 1997.
- Proficient with multiple programming languages and multimedia software.
- Seeking opportunities for contract work with creative clients and agencies.

EDUCATION: BS in Electronic Media, Arts, and Communication, May 2005
Rensselaer Polytechnic University, Troy, NY
Cumulative GPA of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale

EXPERIENCE: Contract XHTML/CSS Designer, PHP Developer, Feb 2007 to current CivicActions LLC, Berkeley, California

- Developed Flash-based media applications with viral marketing capabilities
- Themed websites using XHTML/CSS and jQuery
- Custom Drupal module development and maintenance

Contract Flash and PHP/MySQL Developer, Jan 2007 to current Special Ops Media, Brooklyn, New York

- Developed robust Flash applications for media websites
- Created custom software tools using PHP, MySQL, and AJAX
- Developed several Drupal websites for Universal Studios Hollywood, Disney, and ESPN

SKILLS:

- Drupal 5/6 module development, theming, and code contribution
- PHP 5, experience with PEAR and Pecl modules
- MySQL 4.1 and 5, including transactions and optimization
- JavaScript, including jQuery and AJAX
- XHTML and CSS3
- XML, including XML-RPC, XSLT, XSD, and PHP DOM
- Unix shell scripting

WEBSITES:

- Smithsonian Human Origins <http://humanorigins.si.edu>
- Amnesty International <http://www.amnesty.org>
- The WITNESS Hub <http://hub.witness.org>
- Center for Future Civic Media <http://civic.mit.edu>
- Tagging Of Pacific Predators <http://www.topp.org>